

Hindsight

Look back with a kind eye
There is no need to question decisions you made
That only leads to a labyrinth of doubt.

There are reasons for every choice based on the only way you knew how to be.

Though it may appear I am looking back
I am looking ahead at the same time.

I invite you to stand with me, centered wherein the lessons from the past, inform the potentials of the future.
